

Mediator – Roger Fielder

Current

Non lawyer independent commercial mediator

Sole proprietor Chartered Surveyor, practising from home, undertaking surveys, reports and valuations of residential property, mainly for private clients, also property based disputes, acting for parties in cases of main contractor – sub contractor, contractor – client, neighbour disputes including boundaries and hedges, and professional negligence claims etc.

Previous

Chartered Surveyor, qualified 1967, and a partner with several practices, the last with offices in Bristol, Clevedon and Weston-super-Mare, before retiring in May 2007 to work from home.

Mediation Experience

ADR Net Group accredited mediator 2007, also signed up through ADR Group to undertake mediations through the National Mediation Helpline and a pro bono mediation scheme run by the University of West of England's Law School. Mediation panel member of Effective Dispute Solutions Limited.

Mediation Style

Roger's mediation style is commercially focused and realistic, yet at the same time friendly and relaxed. He actively encourages each party to consider the outcome and the consequences of a failure to reach agreement including litigation costs, and continuing time and ongoing emotional stress to each party.
